Weaver Popcorn Joins Indiana Farmers Coliseum Campaign with Legacy Gift

INDIANAPOLIS – Today the Indiana State Fair Commission announced the naming of the Pop Weaver Youth Pavilion and the Cheri Daniels Arena to complete the naming rights for the newly renovated Indiana Farmers Coliseum complex. Pop Weaver entered into a ten year partnership built on a commitment to delivering a quality product and advancing agriculture. With these additions the entire Indiana Farmers Coliseum complex will be sponsored and supported by Indiana-based businesses and organizations that support agriculture.

“This exciting opportunity gives Pop Weaver a chance to engage with more than a million consumers and families for year-round programming, education and entertainment,” said Mike Weaver, President and CEO, Weaver Popcorn Company, Inc. “The Pop Weaver Youth Pavilion will be a key venue that recognizes Cheri Daniels and her profound impact on the fairgrounds and further educates and grows the public’s understanding of agriculture and the impact it has on all our lives.”

As a part of the Indiana Farmers Coliseum complex the Pop Weaver Youth Pavilion was added during the $63 million renovation that began in the fall of 2012. In honor of Indiana’s Former First Lady, Cheri Daniels, for her passion for the youth of Indiana and her commitment to the Indiana State Fairgrounds the Commission named the arena inside the Youth Pavilion the Cheri Daniels Arena. The venue has hosted nearly a million visitors since its completion in 2013 through public ice skating, livestock competitions and other events.

“During her time as Indiana’s First Lady, Mrs. Daniels was one of the Indiana State Fair’s biggest champions and rarely missed an opportunity to lend her efforts or support to the organization,” said Cindy Hoye, Executive Director, Indiana State Fair Commission. “Being able to honor Mrs. Daniels’ contributions and have yet another Indiana owned business rooted in agriculture support the Indiana Farmers Coliseum Campaign, makes this a very special day for all of us.”

The Coliseum Campaign: Memories in the Making has currently raised $9.5 million and the Pop Weaver contribution gets the Indiana State Fair Foundation closer to its goal of raising $10 million.
